Moose Lodge Helps Wertz's Warriors Raise $1,847 Here for Special Olympics

The Grayling Moose Lodge joined with Wertz's Warriors to raise $1,847 here for the Michigan Special Olympics. Former Detroit Tiger All-Star catcher Bill Freehan, a member of Wertz's Warriors, was on hand for an auction at the Grayling Holiday Inn conducted by the Grayling Moose Club Feb. 4. Lyle Baldwin, the auctioneer and the secretary for the Grayling Moose, said $1,198 was raised through the auction. The Grayling Moose Lodge's total contribution of $1,847 helped Wertz's Warriors present a check for $200,000 to Michigan Special Olympics at Mackinaw City — the end of the state-wide 1986 snowmobile endurance ride for Wertz's Warriors. Baldwin, who went along most of the statewide trip with Wertz's Warriors, said the $200,000 paid the full tab for the 1986 Winter Michigan Special Olympics.

Ward Jones Earns Conference Title

Ward Jones won the 145-pound weight class at the Michigan Huron Shores Conference tournament Saturday. He earned the first place trophy with three straight pins. He pinned a wrestler from Sault Ste. Marie in the second round after receiving a first-round bye. Jones then pinned a Petoskey wrestler. In the finals he pinned the same Petoskey wrestler in 1 minute 38 seconds for the title.

Robert Johnson took 2nd at 105 pounds. He pinned a Rogers City wrestler in the opening round and then upset the number 1 seed wrestler from St. Ignace with a 10-5 overtime win. In the finals he lost 2-1 to a Gaylord wrestler.

Taking third were Buck Monforton, 112 pounds, Fred Fisher, 132, John Gay, 138, and Bubba Neilson, heavyweight. Grayling finished fifth overall. They travel to Coleman Saturday to wrestle in district action.

"Rainbow Jones" appeared on Broadway where the leading roles were played by Richard Dreyfuss and Ellen Moss. It was acclaimed by critics at that time as being "a sensitive and charming production". Rain Freezes on Roads

Freezing rain last Tuesday forced many motorists off the roads and enticed some youngsters to try ice skating on the back roads the next day as school was called off.

Despite the Crawford County Road Commission crews attacking the ice four different ways, some patches of ice still remained five days later on shaded side roads.

Tuesday and Wednesday the road crews hit the state trunklines and the county primary roads with salt, brine, and sand. The county's ice removal procedure follows the same line as for snow removal. The state trunklines and county primary roads are worked first. Then the subdivision and side roads are worked on.

The state trunklines are I-75, U.S. 27, and M-72 West and East. The county primary roads include Old 27, Military Road, County Road 612, North Down River Road, Chase Bridge Road, Stephan Bridge Road, Wakeley Bridge Road, McMasters Bridge, Lovells Road, and a few others.

On Wednesday, Road Commission manager John Keir said the materials crews were using on the roads weren't working too well. He said the brine was running off the ice, the salt wasn't working well, and the sand wasn't providing very good traction.

So the road crews put on a seldom-used serrated blade to cut into the ice. Keir said the serrated blades roughen up the ice and allow the salt, brine, or sand to work and not just slide off. The serrated blades are only used about one or two times a year after an extreme ice storm.

On Thursday, the road crews went back over the state trunklines and county primary roads first with salt, brine, or sand and then split off into the side roads. Keir said sunshine on Thursday really helped melt the ice.

On paved roads, the county crews try to clear roads down to pavement whenever possible. On gravel roads, they use mostly sand on top of the ice. The ice can't be removed until it is weakened enough to peel when it is plowed or graded.

Keir said the county has used a lot of brine, salt, and sand this year on roads.

Although total snowfall has not yet exceeded last year's total, there have more days of 1-2 inches of snow that required materials on the road.

The road commission had to order more sand already and their salt is running low. The county has two brine wells they use — one about 18 miles northeast of Grayling and another about 12 miles southwest of Grayling. They try to use brine on the routes near the brine wells and use salt on the portions of the county far away from the wells.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR — Norma Naour was named Citizen of the Year at the 61st Annual Grayling Winter Sports Carnival Kick-off Dinner Thursday night. Naour has directed the Miss Grayling Pageant for 8 years and is the 1st Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce. She has won state honors for her work as a real estate saleswoman for Cornell Realty and she was named Citizen of the Year previously by the American Business Women's Association in Grayling.

Yankee Star Tom Tresh Leads Baseball Clinic

Former Yankee All-Star and Gold Glove winner Tom Tresh will be giving fielding and batting tips at the Grayling Little League Baseball Clinic Saturday, Feb. 15, from noon to 5 p.m. at the Grayling High School gym.

Tresh, a 12-year pro with the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers, was the 1962 American League Rookie of the Year and helped the Yankees win World Championships in 1962 and 1963. Tresh was named to the 1962 and 1963 All-Star teams and won the 1965 Gold Glove Award. He played in three World Series hitting for a .277 average.

Tresh is currently a baseball coach at Central Michigan University. He played one season for CMU in 1957 and helped lead the team to a share of the Interstate Athletic Conference Title.

Besides Tresh, the clinic will offer instruction from Dean Kreiner, head baseball coach at CMU, and Terry J. Lynch, head baseball coach at Northwood Institute.

Kreiner is considered one of the nation's most knowledgeable pitching coaches — 17 pitchers he has coached at CMU have gone on to sign professional contracts.

Lynch is in his sixth year as head coach at Northwood although he is only 31. Last year his team won its first ever NAIA District championship. Lynch was a third-year starter at CMU at third base and helped his team win its first Mid American Conference Championship in 1977.

Instruction will also be offered at the clinic by John Northrup, Mick Cockran, and Terry F. Lynch — three CMU baseball stars who signed with the Detroit Tigers — and Fred Wolcott, a Wayne State University star who signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Another former CMU outstanding baseball player, Jim Tobin, is organizing the event and he says the baseball clinic this Saturday may be the best one ever offered in northern Michigan.

The clinic is geared toward young players as well as coaches, parents, and umpires from the Little League level on up. Tickets are $2 for youth 16 and younger and $5 for adults. If you plan to coach Little League baseball or your child wants to play baseball, this is the best opportunity you'll have to learn the game the right way.

No-Kill Imposed On AuSable 'Holy Water'

The well-known "Holy Water" stretch of the mainstream AuSable will have no-kill rules year-round the Natural Resources Commission decided last Thursday at their meeting in Kalamazoo.

The NCR voted unanimously to impose no-kill on the 8.7 mile stretch of river until 1990 when the regulation will be reviewed.

The no-kill regulation allows fishermen to catch all the trout they can, but every fish must be released alive back into the river.

The Holy Water stretch is from Burton's Landing to Wakeley Bridge.

The NRC went against the recommendation of the DNR Fisheries Division. Fisheries biologists had recommended continuing with current slot rules for 1986 and changing to a smaller slot size for 1987. The slot regulation allowed fishermen to keep three trout 8-12 inches and one trout more than 16 inches each day from the end of April to November 1. From November 1 to April, no-kill rules were already in effect.

Now, the no-kill rules will extend year-round for that part of the AuSable.

The Fisheries Division also told the NRC that a ballot concerning fishing regulations showed most fishermen were opposed to no-kill on the AuSable. The DNR conducted five public hearings on the AuSable fishing regulations and passed out ballots at each meeting. The ballot also appeared in newspapers and was sent to AuSable River property owners.

Only about 400 ballots were returned. Forty one percent favored no-kill while the rest favored one of 15 other fishing regulations.

Bruce Patrick, DNR Conservation Officer at the Grayling field office, said the official order for the new regulation has not yet been sent from Lansing. He said the penalty for violating the no-kill rule will be a misdemeanor. A misdemeanor has a maximum sentence of $100 plus court costs and 90 days in jail.

County Jail Books Record Number in '85

A record number of 632 persons were booked in the Crawford County jail for 1985, a year-end report by the sheriff department shows.

The number of persons booked at the jail increased significantly from 491 persons booked in 1984. The average daily population of the 20-man capacity jail was 19.3 persons.

The most frequent crime committed by persons booked into the Crawford County jail was operating a vehicle under the influence of liquor (O.U.I.L.). One hundred forty one persons were booked for O.U.I.L. - 76 persons were arrested by the Crawford County Sheriff Department, 62 persons were arrested by the Grayling City Police, 2 persons were arrested by the Michigan State Police, and 1 person by a DNR Conservation officer.

The O.U.I.L. arrests increased greatly from 1984 totals. In 1984, there were 80 persons booked for O.U.I.L. - 63 by the sheriff dept., 5 by the city police, 11 by state police, and 1 by the DNR.

Grayling City Police Pete Stephan said the increase in drunk driving arrests by city police from 5 in 1984 to 62 in 1985 was a result of city police getting out and doing something about making the roads safer by getting drunk drivers off the roads.

Besides a record number of persons booked at the county jail, the number of complaints received by the sheriff dept. in 1985 also was a record high of 5,170. The number of complaints has increased steadily each of the last five years.

Overall traffic warnings increased significantly in 1985 to 2,500 from a 1984 total of 1,752.

The number of persons arrested for major crimes in the county remained about the same in 1985. Fourteen persons were arrested for various types of assaults in 1985 - up from 13 arrested for assaults in 1984.

There were six persons arrested for criminal sexual charges in 1985 - the same amount as in 1984.

Seventeen persons were arrested for breaking and enterings in 1985 - up slightly from 13 arrested in 1984. The total number of B & E's reported also increased slightly to

The number of persons arrested for disorderly conduct increased a lot in 1985. There were 53 persons arrested in 1985 compared to 37 in 1984.

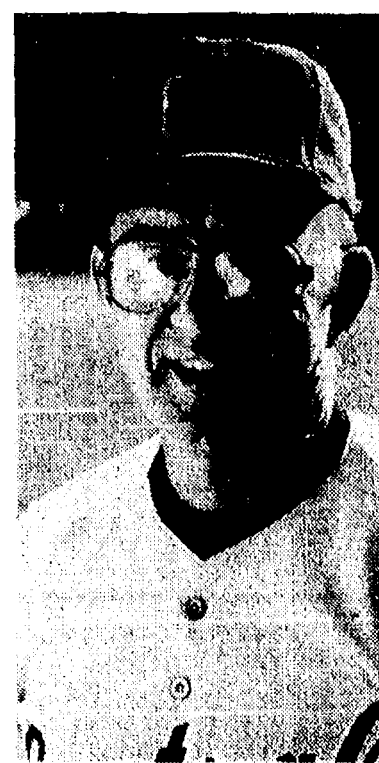

The Crawford County Sheriff Department Investigation program, operated by Detective Charles Haas, made 14 felony arrests in 1985 even though the program was dropped for about half a year due to budget problems. Since the detective program was started in 1978, it has led to 277 felony arrests and the recovery of $373,226 in stolen property.

The number of emergency runs by the Crawford County Ambulance Corps declined slightly to 475 in 1985 - down from 521 in 1984. The number of automobile accidents requiring ambulances remained about the same. In 1985, county ambulances were called to 51 auto accidents. In 1984, county ambulances were called to 52 auto accidents.

The total number of complaints handled by the county animal control officers increased greatly in 1985. Animal control officers handled 1,984 complaints in 1985 compared to 1,548 complaints in 1984. The number of animals picked up in 1985 was 1,189 - up from 1,107 in 1984. The number of animals put to sleep in 1985 was 693 - down from 761 in 1984.

From Our Corner...

First things first...This Wednesday, February 12th will be a monumental day in Grayling...no, not to celebrate President Abe Lincoln's birthday, but, to recognize a fellow citizen that can count his friends on one hand...we speak of Mr. Paul Lerg, normally known as Poor Paul...

One of his friends tipped me off over the weekend that Poor Paul would be turning the leaf of "four oh" on the 12th and in case anyone would like to wish him a happy birthday, go ahead, you won't lose any status in the community if you do...or you could call him on the phone, and no one would know that you did...

We understand that one of his friends, namely Ron Fraser, custodian of Grayling's Holiday Inn and Holidome has invited his couple other friends out for a bit of fellowship Tuesday evening, just to console Poor Paul on his 40th...right now we plan on attending just to help fill up the room, and also to find out if he ever found the door knob to his beloved Monte Carlo that met its demise through a fire...we understand the Fire Marshal is still investigating to see if it might have been arson...

Some people will go to no length to get out of paying the last payment on an automobile...but, we stand behind Poor Paul, if nothing else he does have one trait that Abe had, honesty, or at least I think...

In a way we are happy that our government didn't make Abe's birthday a red-numeral day on the calendar so people could have a free day...I'm sure, Poor Paul would have thought that they did it for him...he is so boisterous now, what would it be like if the 12th was a holiday?...

Don't feel bad if you don't know who I'm writing about, there are not many that do...you may recognize him by turning to page 13...I didn't have anything to do with the ad, it was all Paul's idea, he wanted some limelight...he is something like Rodney Dangerfield, he don't get no respect...

The Deity smiled on Grayling this past weekend with beautiful winter weather for the 61st Winter Sports Carnival...

With the naming of Miss Stephanie Hindmarsh as "Miss Grayling 1986" at the Pageant a week ago, and the official announcement at the Kick-Off dinner held last Thursday evening at the Chief Shoppenagons Motor Hotel, to the Winter Sports parade on Saturday morning and the climax at Hanson Hills on Sunday, the weekend was perfect...

To all, who had anything to do with the promoting of this year's winter carnival we give a Tip of the Derby for a job well done...

A special Tip to Norma Naour for being selected Citizen of the Year at the Kick-off dinner...Norma was not present to receive the award, she was relaxing in Vegas...

An idle thought...we were just sitting here gazing out the window, and it came to me that the 12th is also an important day for my much older sister, Blenda, who lives in Gaylord, it is her birthday also...no, we're not copying Jim Fitzgerald...Bea is that much older than I that I don't ever remember her living at home...in fact, I was six years old when I became an uncle...

Speaking of years, it scares me...as I was growing up and came back from the army, I looked at my father as being old...I am four years older than he was when he died...time does march on, whether we wish it or not...

We pass on this little note from Representative Ralph Ostling's weekly "NortherNotes", The Dept. of Agriculture is encouraging cat owners to have their cats vaccinated against rabies...the report says more cats with rabies than dogs have been found...we mention this because I was bit by a mad dog in my youth, and went through the Pasteur treatment at U of M for 21 days...it's not fun...

With that, one more goes to bed, and our goodnight to T.J., Stefany and Amber, and to all, we hope you enjoyed winter sports in Grayling...

Happy Birthday, Mr. Lerg!

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

ECUMENICAL SIN OR WRONG

Does the ecumenical movement have a definition of sin? Can they tell the community what is sinful and wrong?

A Bible definition of sin may be stated as any thought, word or deed which does not conform to the will of God as found in Jesus Christ and His Holy Scriptures. (John 1:14 with Romans 3:23). Sin is the transgression of God's law. (1 John 3:4). "Whatsoever is not of faith is sin." (Romans 14:23). "Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin." (James 4:17). God says all of us are sinners. "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us." (1 John 1:8). "For there is not a just man upon earth, that doeth good, and sinneth not." (Ecc. 7:20). This is why "God...commandeth all men everywhere to repent." (Acts 17:30). This is why God sent Jesus Christ to die on the cross for sin. "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." (2 Cor. 5:21). "For the wages of sin is death..." (Romans 6:23).

Any public stand by the ecumenical movement against sin or wrong must be based upon theological consensus. In other words, the clergy must discuss and agree upon a wrong or sin before they can disclose it. Can this explain why they have taken no public stand against sex sin outside of marriage? Can this explain why they have taken no public stand against the sin of drunkenness? Can this explain why they have taken no public stand against the abortion murder of millions of innocent, helpless human beings in America? Can this explain why they have exposed no heresy which can send souls to Hell for eternity? Can this explain why the only things they seem free to condemn are international racism, capital punishment, war against communism, and "The Bible Speaks"?

The ecumenical movement seems to think that the moral problems people have are caused by sickness instead of sin. The individual is addicted to alcohol, perverted sex, drugs, gambling, lying, cheating, and a host of other moral problems which he cannot help? The poor individual is a helpless victim of bad genes and bad environment, but no sin? Society may be wrong or sinful, but the individual is always right? Both as individuals and as a society we have no conscience of sin. May God in his mercy convict and reprove us of sin!

Middle School News

HOMEMAKING NEWS: Seventh graders in this class are enjoying the "Foods of the Season." They'll be doing Valentine cookies and cherry cobbler to honor our first President this month. Sixth graders are busy mastering the techniques of sewing and will finish with a tote bag. The use of the sewing machine is a new activity for most of the students. Mrs. Dora Lantzsch is the homemaker teacher at the middle school.

LIBRARY NEWS: The middle school staff donated to the library a book called "Visions of the Wild" by Susan Shaw in memory of Carroll Wert. This book contains many colored photographs of wildlife. It will be very useful to many classes, and also pleasure reading.

ENGLISH: In January Mrs. Judi Mesack's English classes reviewed for and took their semester exams. They also did a "Lost Island" project. They imagined they were stranded on a deserted island, drew a map of the island, and wrote an essay about their imagined experience. The Journalism classes published their final edition of the semester, a four page newspaper. For the first time, the class developed and printed their own film. Their darkroom was assembled for them and they were trained by Jim Adams, of Adams Photography. For their non-fiction book Mrs. Mesack's literature classes read "Hiroshima," by John Hersey, and saw a filmstrip explaining the novel. They discussed the effects of nuclear war.

HISTORY: Mr. Tom St. Germain's classes are now covering the Civil War and Reconstruction period of American history. They have had one film on the Civil War itself, and one film on the Lincoln assassination, which the students greatly enjoyed. This period of history is unusually interesting to the students.

BAND NEWS: The sixth grade is through the first Method Book and now in the process of testing. The middle school band is getting ready for a Festival on March 1st in Traverse City and the procedures that are involved. The middle school and high school bands are also preparing for the concert on February 20th at the high school. Mr. Dennis Ormsbee is the band director for the school district.

Grayling Elementary School News

On Thursday, January 23, 1986, Mrs. Bovee's class went to Mercy Hospital. The first thing we did was meet our guide, Mrs. Conway. First she took us to the Emergency room. There we learned about casts and broken bones. Then she took us to the x-ray room. There we met a nurse and she gave an x-ray on her pulse to show us what was in it. There was a scanner to show us what was in her purse. After we passed the kitchen and the cafeteria our next stop was the library.

At the library we found out the kinds of books that doctors read. We went from the library to the chapel. The chapel that we went to is a place where family can pray for their loved ones.

Then we went to physical therapy. Afterward we went to Mercy Manor. That is where people stay for a long time. Next was a ride in the elevator which took us to the second floor. Then we went to the lounge to relax. When we got to O.B. we saw a baby. Then we went to the delivery and the birthing rooms and last the ambulatory surgery. By Amy Anthony, 4th grade.

The glue with which barnacles attach themselves to rocks, piers, and ships is one of nature's strongest, says National Geographic World. Barnacle fossils 30 million years old are still stuck to the surfaces on which they died.

State of the State? It Depends

by Richard Milliman

"TIS THE SEASON for the various "state of..." messages. The state of the union...the state of the state...the state of the city...and so on.

What is the state of the state of Michigan, for example? Well, it all depends.

Actually, most folks agree the state of the state is a lot better than it used to be. The big argument seems to be who or what is responsible.

Governor James Blanchard's "state of the state" message was pretty ordinary in many respects, and pretty unusual in others.

The governor pointed with pride and viewed with alarm, as do most message senders. In those respects, the message was rather usual.

BUT GOVERNOR BLANCHARD unveiled one of the most intricate packages of promotion ever wrapped around the rather prosaic "state of the state" program.

The governor hit several top audiences around the state, previewing his generally upbeat message that Michigan is the comeback state, and it's pretty well out of the financial woods, and claimed that his bold programs are mainly responsible. He trotted out chart after chart, showing the good way it is now, and admitting modestly that he had something to do with the turnaround.

Then he went on statewide television, saying pretty much the same thing, and took telephone calls from folks around the state, all the time talking about the "state of the state."

Finally, in a genuine anti-climax, he went before the legislature with the formal speech. By that time, it was old-hat...but Mr. Blanchard still took over an hour to lay it all out to the lawmakers. Who was listening by speech's end? Not many.

AS COULD BE expected, Mr. Blanchard's friends — mainly Democrats — liked the speech, and said so. Mr. Blanchard's foes — mainly Republicans — didn't like the speech, and they said so, too.

Republicans generally admitted Michigan is in improved condition now, but claimed it was because of President Reagan and his programs, and actually in spite of Governor Blanchard and his programs. Democrats, of course, agreed with Mr. Blanchard that it was Democrat Blanchard and not Republican President Reagan who bears responsibility for Michigan's upswing.

The truth probably is a combination of both claims. But that's politics, especially in a crucial election year when the governor's job and all legislative seats are up for grabs.

Michigan Mirror Governor Orders Drunken Driving Check Points;

Governor James Blanchard is establishing a pilot program of drunken driving check points and is urging repeal of the prison overcrowding law which he has refused to use since December, 1984 in remarks that were to be broadcast Wednesday night previewing his State of the State.

The attention to "citizen protection" and announcement of his new proposal for a guaranteed tuition payment program highlighted the State of the State message which centered on the theme of budget and economic improvement over the past three years.

But he then added, "The issue is no longer how bad things were three years ago or even how good they are today. The real issue is 'how great can we become.'"

Blanchard said he envisioned a state on the cutting edge of technology, with a diversified economy and smaller government, and that pioneers labor/management cooperation.

Contrasting his approach in his first year in office when the goal was simply to erase a threat of bankruptcy, Blanchard's speech was filled with repeated references of optimism regarding the state's future. He said citizens "ought to be proud" of Michigan's comeback.

The gains cited by the Governor include the addition of 500 jobs a day, a record number of new business starts in 1985, national leader in number of new manufacturing facilities under construction for the last two years, and an unemployment rate that has dropped to 7.9 percent from 17 percent in 1983.

"Our progress did not happen by accident. We developed a strategy and we stuck to it...even when it was unpopular," the Governor said.

Blanchard renewed his call for property tax relief supported through subjecting some exempt business activity to taxation, while re-emphasizing his position for a March 31 tax rollback and his "hold-the-line" budget proposal for 1986-87.

"There is simply no good reason why more than half of Michigan's insurance companies pay no single business tax — while homeowners pay a crushing share of

ONE OF THE MORE novel proposals from Mr. Blanchard is for parents to salt away money early to pay for their children's education later. The idea is for young parents to open a savings account with the state early on; the state would invest the money and the cash would be there when the kids are ready for college in 15 or 20 years. There are a lot of wrinkles to be ironed out, but the idea sparked considerable interest — most of it favorable.

Then there was Mr. Blanchard's proposal that the state police operate spot roadblocks to check for drunken drivers. Being against drunken driving is a very popular position these days, and Mr. Blanchard is now on record four-square in that regard.

Will the idea fly? Probably not. But as one Republican lawmaker observed, the governor assumes a "win-win position": he's on record as strong in opposition to drunk driving, but yet he knows the legislature won't adopt the roadblock plan. How can he lose in that situation? he can't.

THE GOVERNOR'S message caused some early problems among the black community. The legislature's black caucus came down hard on Mr. Blanchard because his message did not include enough attention to welfare problems. Most black legislators consider welfare recipients as their primary constituents.

There were threats that the black vote may waiver in support of Mr. Blanchard in this election year, which could prove crucial — if it happens — especially because Bill Lucas, the leading Republican candidate for governor at this point, is black.

That will be an exceedingly interesting development to watch as the months pass.

Mr. Blanchard moved quickly to shore up his posture with the black caucus, and most political observers seemed to think the whole flap will subside long before election time. But who really knows for sure?

THE MEAT of the governor's message, however, is financial, and money is at the core of his program for 1986.

And the crux of the argument between the governor and Republicans in the capitol seems not to involve whether to cut taxes this year, but rather how much to cut them and when.

Generally speaking, Republicans want to reduce taxes more and sooner than Governor Blanchard proposes...but both sides agree that taxes should be lower.

How can the taxpayer lose in a situation like that?

Warren M. Hoyt, Exec. Dir., MPA

our tax burden," he said. His proposal would liberalize the property tax credit program provided through the income tax.

In announcing his intention to implement drunken driving check points on a random basis, Blanchard said, "People simply do not have the right to kill themselves or others with alcohol and cars."

State Police Director Gerald Hough dropped plans in 1984 to establish his own pilot check lane proposal under pressure from legislators, who later instructed the Drunk Driving Task Force that it could not recommend such a program.

In urging repeal of the overcrowding act, Blanchard said, "The law that had allowed the early release of dangerous felons must be taken off the books—forever—for good." He said the prison construction program, which added 3,000 beds last year and eight more prison projects underway, must continue as the proper solution to increasing numbers of inmates.

The Governor had previously stopped short of urging outright repeal of the Prison Emergency Overcrowding Act, which provides for early release of inmates not serving mandatory terms. Since he stopped using the law, the state has house the excess prisoner population in gymnasiums, trailer-type units, and most recently, pole-barn facilities.

The Governor said his tuition program "will guarantee that future tuition will not outstrip your ability to finance it. When added to our expanded scholarship and loan program, this tuition guarantee program will make Michigan the nation's leader in providing access to opportunity."

The state would invest payments — receiving tax-free interest — received from parents and guarantee full coverage of tuition payments when the parents' children attended a four-year public state college.

Treasurer Rober Bowman said the program would remove cost of tuition as the determining factor of whether a child would attend college. As opposed to an individual investment program, "We would not be guaranteeing a sum of money. We would be guaranteeing tuition, regardless of how much it had increased," he said.

Frederic Loppet III X-C Ski Race Saturday

By Dave Forbush

Some of the finest cross-country skiers in the mid-west will converge on Frederic this Saturday at 9:30 a.m. to participate in the third running of the Frederic Loppet. The event will take place at Forbush Corner, located 1/4 mile east of I-75 at the Lewiston/Frederic exit.

Sponsors for this year's event are Pepsi Cola, Chemical Bank, AuSable Woodworking, the Grayling Holiday Inn and McDonald's, also of Grayling. A nordic racing hat, provided by Pepsi, will be presented to all participants.

Awards will be presented at the Grayling Holiday Inn with free chili, cheese and crackers for all participants and, for an additional $3, racers may bring a guest. Again this year the awards will be donated by the AuSable Woodworking Company of Frederic, the largest manufacturer of rustic plaques in the world.

Grayling High School instructor, Mike Smith will tabulate the results. Lovells resident, Sue Hartwig will handle the entries for this year's event.

Master tracksetter, Jack Hitsman, of Frederic is ready for an all out effort to create a perfect track for the racers. Unused in the past, but most welcome is the diligent attendance of the Frederic ambulance crew.

Finally, local carpenter, Dick Treadwell and his wife, Betty, will "man" the aid station, again this year.

Spectators are more than welcome to join the excitement of this annual event. Admission is free for them. For the racers, however, there is a $12 entry fee. Now if the weather will only cooperate...

Advanced Studies Class at Grayling High School

By Linda Denton

A lot of people don't think about death until a close friend or relative dies. Even then, though the reality is much closer, they rarely think they are mortal and are going to die.

The Advanced Studies Class at Grayling High School just finished a unit on death and dying, called "Death: A Part of Life." At the beginning of the school year the students showed a lot of interest in the subject of death and dying. So the Advanced Studies teachers, Nancy Lemmen and Tom Mills, developed a unit that would allow the students to learn more about how to cope with dying.

Many guest speakers attended the class to talk about different aspects of death. Among them were: Jini Hindmarsh, a nurse at the Critical Care Unit at Mercy Hospital in Grayling, who talked about the medical view of death, including things like the living will; Reverend Jeffery Regan of Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church, who discussed the religious side of death and talked about the funeral services and how he performed the eulogy; Derek McEvers, director of Sorenson Funeral Home, who talked about the importance of funerals religiously and in helping ease the pain of the mourners; John Huss, lawyer, who talked about the importance of wills and what could happen if the deceased did not have one; and Lorna Morse, who talked about dealing with grief at the death of a close family member.

The students also went to the Sorenson Funeral Home in Grayling, where they were given a tour by Derek McEvers, who answered the questions the students had.

As assignments for the unit, the students were encouraged to read a novel about death; write their own wills or plan their own funerals; and read a poem about death, either original or by another author. The students could also do a number of projects having to do with death.

Resource Review

By Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

You may be aware that due to a recent court decision Conservation Officers in the State of Michigan are no longer considered peace officers with authority to enforce the general laws of the state. This long held status had enabled us to assist other enforcement agencies when needed, to make highways safer by arresting drunk and reckless drivers, and to make arrests for various crimes outside the normal duties of a "game warden". This unexpected change has resulted in confusion and a decrease in service to the public. After all, Conservation Officers receive exactly the same training as any other enforcement officer in the state.

Legislation has recently been introduced in the Michigan House of Representatives to rectify the situation. H.B. 5315, if passed, will reinstate the full peace officer status of Conservation Officers.

Please exhibit your support of H.B. 5315 by writing: Hon. Perry Bullard, Michigan House of Representatives, State Capitol, Box 30014, Lansing, MI 48909-7514.

Copies to Rep. Ostling and Senator Connie Binsfeld will also help.

Chronological Sketch Of The Bible

The ancient Semitic language had no vowels: today would be written tdy. Even after the square Babylonian alphabet was adopted by the scribes in the Fertile Crescent, the written text of the sacred books remained without vowels, giving a wide variety of meaning to the words. There were no fixed rules of spelling, and the similarity of the letters made copying errors very common. Vowel signs above and below the letters were invented by Jewish Masoretic scholars sometime during the 6th century A.D.

The books of the Bible (Greek word - byblos) had no chapters, verses or titles. The Old Testament chapter divisions used today are the genius of one Stephen Langton, Archbishop of Canterbury (1225 AD). The first English Bible to contain chapter and verse divisions throughout was the Geneva edition of 1560.

The Old Testament was translated out of the Hebrew into Greek between 250-150 B.C., and into Syriac and Coptic soon after the Christian era around 150 A.D. The Bible is now available in approximately 1100 different languages and dialects.

The earliest English Christians used the only known Bible, which was the Latin Vulgate made by Jerome between 383-405 A.D. With the invention of printing presses, religious reformers like Wycliffe and Tyndale concluded that the common man should have access to the Bible and proceeded to translate the Latin Vulgate into English. Tyndale's translation was considered so excellent that the King James version reproduced about 90% of his work. For this fine work, however, he was condemned by the Catholic Church and strangled, his body burned at the stake.

Hundreds of other Protestants lost their lives in pursuit of translating the Bible, but in 1535 the Cloverdale Bible appeared, the Matthew edition in 1537. A combination of these two works came in 1539 and was called The Great Bible. The Geneva Bible of 1560 was the product of John Calvin and his associates. This Bible became famous as the "Breeches" Bible because of the translation of Genesis 3:7 "They sewed fig-tree leaves together and made themselves breeches". The Geneva "Breeches" Bible enjoyed enormous popularity to the extent of 160 editions, and it continued in print long after the King James version appeared in 1611.

Next (1568) came the Bishop's Bible, a revision of The Great Bible, by Archbishop Parker and other bishops. From the Church of Rome came the Rheims and Donai Bibles, the work of Gregory Martin and other English writers. The Rheims-Donay Bible of today is not the same as Martins work, but a thorough revision Challoner made between 1749 and 1763, finally authorized for American Roman Catholics in 1810.

In 1603, King James authorized a new translation to replace the Bishop's Bible. Hebrew and Greek scholars (47 in all) were put to this task and all final differences of opinion were settled by scholars outside the revisory board. This work did not win immediate acceptance, taking nearly 50 years to dislodge the Geneva Bible from its popular position.

The English revision of the King James Bible was considered necessary by the Convocation of Canterbury of the Church of England for several reasons: 1) a great number of ancient Greek manuscripts had been discovered that were superior to those used by the revisory board; 2) the language had become obsolete; 3) new knowledge regarding the Hebrew language had come to light, making for a more accurate rendering of the Old Testament books. The Greek manuscripts called for making 5,768 changes in the Old Testament and about 36,000 changes in the New Testament. As American scholars participated in this work, the American Standard version appeared in print in 1901. The delay of the American edition was due to additional changes they saw fit to make as the English version retained a large number of words and phrases whose meaning and spelling were regarded by the American scholars as antiquated.

Dozens of later translations have been issued since the turn of the 20th century, as the science of archeology continually brings to the surface new and exciting discoveries. The ancient colloquialisms are exchanged for common, everyday thought, and reading the Bible...once a confusing chore...has now become possible for readers of all ages and educational backgrounds. Scores of good people fell to barbarous deaths getting the Bible before our eyes, and because "thou art holy" is as close to the Hebrew as "he is holy", I would encourage people to read any and all translations they can find. The differences are truly fascinating.

The Subject of Strokes

I think we are all frightened of losing our mental and physical independence and a stroke is probably the most frightening event of all. Strokes are more common in older people, and their effects can be devastating. However, a great deal can be done to decrease the risk of strokes and improve the outcome. Stroke means the sudden, spontaneous loss of use, feeling or control of one or more limbs of the impairment of speech and mental function. It may also be complicated by problems with balance and vision. In order for such an episode to be called a stroke, it must occur suddenly.

The most common cause of strokes is damage to the blood vessels supplying the brain. A stroke can occur when small particles of a blood clot become dislodged from a diseased heart and travels to the brain. Many people suffer from high blood pressure, which left untreated can weaken the blood vessels in the brain. A stroke occurs when one of these vessels bursts.

A stroke can vary in its appearance, severity, and duration. Some people suffer from a weakness of a limb or speech impairment for a few minutes or hours and then the symptoms improve.

Strokes can be prevented if there are changes in the diet at an early age. A decrease in the amount of animal fat may play a role. The reduction of high blood pressure has definitely been shown to decrease the likelihood of a stroke. Anti-coagulants have been found to decrease the likelihood of strokes in certain people. Some of these medications may have serious side effects and are used only in certain situations.

Recent evidence indicates that medications such as aspirin and other drugs that affect platelets can decrease the stickiness of the blood and prevent strokes in certain individuals. It will take more time and research before it is known for certain whether these platelet inhibiting drugs are effective.

Under certain circumstances surgery may prevent a stroke. If you have a partial blockage of one of the main arteries going to the brain, this can be corrected. An angiogram of these blood vessels is necessary in order to make the diagnosis.

A stroke support group meets the second Friday of each month at 3:00 p.m. at Grayling Health Care Facility. This group is for stroke victims and their caregivers.

Herbal Corner

The Japanese word for soy sauce is Shoyu. Shoyu means "fermented." Yu means "oil" or "Heavy liquid." Tamari means "a liquid pool." The word tamari was originally used for the thick liquid that is produced as a by-product in the process of making miso (a fermented aged soybean puree). Tamari is by far, in my opinion, the superior product.

Tamari is simply a fermented liquid made from water, soybeans, and salt. Soy sauce, such as LaChoy's, is made from water, protein extracts from soybeans, salt, corn syrup and caramel color. Tamari is fermented slowly, as much as three to six years, whereas the soy sauce as we get it is processed with quick artificial fermentations.

Tamari has living enzymes, which is needed for our digestive systems. I would not guarantee the commercial products. Tamari has a much lighter taste and more palatable than LaChoy's. It is used in stir frying and, because the fermentation usually tastes salty, is used in place of salt. Tamari has about 750 mg of sodium per tablespoon where soy sauce has about 1200 mg of sodium. Remember, when sugar is added, more salt has to be added.

Tamari is purchased at health food stores or food co-ops. This is unfortunate, but well worth the effort to get.

I promised you a recipe for salt substitute, did I not, darlin'? This comes from a friend of mine and is quite flavorful. Combine 5 tbs Onion powder; 2 tsp Garlic powder, Mustard powder, Paprika powder, Oregano powder; 1/2 tsp White Pepper (optional). Leave out the pepper until you have tasted it. It does add a small bite, so you may want to cut in half.

Isn't this weather the pits?
Herbally yours,
E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

"OUR NAME MEANS A GREAT DEAL"

SPECIAL OLYMPIC FUN -- More than 300 youngsters from the COOR Intermediate School District had a blast recently at Hanson Hills practicing for the Michigan Winter Special Olympics.

They tried cross-country skiing, snowshoeing, skating, downhill skiing, intertube sliding, and tug-of-war contests. Hanson Hills let the special Olympians use equipment and facilities free of charge.

Editor's Mailbox

Feb. 7, 1986
Dear Whitey,
I would like to use this space to announce my departure from the Grayling community. We have enjoyed our time here greatly, and have formed many deep friendships. Our decision to leave has not been easy to reach.

We have found it necessary to leave for several reasons. First, the liability situation is impacting on the lives of all the citizens of this State. It is becoming especially burdensome on the medical profession. Minimal coverage for an obstetrician now costs $22,000 per year and has been doubling every 18 months in the recent past. No end is in sight. It is most difficult to stay in practice when costs, especially malpractice, are rising so rapidly, and with no way to control them. Raising fees would not help, since nearly all insurance programs place limits on how much they will pay for a given procedure, often forcing the physician to accept that amount as payment in full. The physician is thus squeezed in the middle, taking losses along with rising costs, and no way to control the situation. No businessman can cope with such a situation for long.

Second, while we feel the Crawford-AuSable School system does quite well with the resources and funding it receives from the community, we feel the schools here could and should be much better supported. The limited tax base and the unwillingness of the voters here to support their schools has been very disappointing. A prime example is the 5 or so millage elections required recently to finally do something about the Grayling Middle School Building. The final vote passed by roughly 100 votes, hardly overwhelming support for the schools.

Third, I have found it burdensome and inconvenient for myself as well as my patients to be prohibited from performing tubal sterilizations at Mercy Hospital. This is due to the Catholic ownership and policies of the institution. Although I have been able to do these procedures in Gaylord at Otsego Memorial Hospital, it is very inconvenient and annoying.

Fourth, with the departure of my partner, Dr. David Rivera, I have found my time increasingly monopolized by the demands of my medical practice, with little or no time for family or private interests. The market for obstetricians is very competitive at present, with far more openings than physicians to fill them. It would be very difficult and most likely unsuccessful that a partner could be recruited to help me, given the State's malpractice crisis, the lack of local community support for the schools, and the local prohibition of tubal sterilizations at Mercy Hospital.

We have enjoyed our time here very much, and are very grateful for the warm welcome we received upon our arrival. Grayling is a most friendly community. I feel honored to have been allowed to take part in the health care of so many of the women of the Grayling community, and I thank you all sincerely for allowing me to do so. I shall start practice in Racine, Wisconsin, at the Racine Medical Clinic about May 1, 1986. I hope my departure will not cause my patients or the community too much inconvenience. Copies of my patients will, of course, be available for transfer to the physician of their choice. Thank you again.

Warmest Regards,
Brian W. Fox, M.D.

To The Editor,
A quick and blunt question to the gas station owners of Grayling:

Why is it that you are ripping people off on gas by charging prices over $1.20 per gallon when the gas prices in the rest of the state are under $1.00 per gallon? It cannot be because of the remote location as the Detroit Free Press reported Escanaba, U.P. is also below the $1.00 per gallon mark. There is no excuse for these exorbitant prices except sheer greed.

Sincerely sick of this pre-fabricated gas shortage.
Mark Ralph

Feb. 10, 1986

Dear Whitey,
Imagine my surprise when I returned from a forced trip downstate to find that gasoline had dropped in price two whole cents in Grayling. And downstate it had only dropped 12 cents to 15 cents during the same period. Any normal, right-thinking person would figure that if it dropped 2 cents in "God's Country", it would drop at least 20 cents downstate. Those stations down there must be making a very large profit.

I can see now why so many of our tourists with their high mileage cars fill up in Saginaw or Bay City on the way up here and, if they buy any here at all, they get just what they'll need to get back down there on their way home.

I hope you can share any idle thoughts with your readers.

RSVP Reports

Aleta Thompson Director
What is RSVP? The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) is a nationally recognized program for retired persons 60 and over who serve as volunteers in their community.

Where Does RSVP Serve?
RSVP serves Crawford and Roscommon counties. It is a local-based program; Senior Volunteers are recruited in their local neighborhoods to serve in local community agencies and programs helping to meet local needs. In addition, the local community provides support and assistance that is essential to RSVP's success.

Who Sponsors RSVP?
The Commission on Aging of Crawford sponsors RSVP on the local level. ACTION, which is the federal sponsoring agency of all RSVP's, provides general guidelines under which RSVP operates. RSVP's role is to assist other agencies and organizations to initiate, develop and expand their own senior volunteer programs, and to coordinate these efforts in the bi-county area.

Where Do Volunteers Serve?
In schools, hospitals, community centers, social, health and welfare organizations, and other community programs and facilities.

Who can be a Senior Volunteer?
Any person 60 and older who wants to serve his/her community. There are no limitations based on education, income or experience. Men and women of every race and religion are welcome to serve. Senior volunteers who are already serving on a regular basis may become part of this national program.

What Services Does RSVP Offer Its Members?
RSVP offers Senior Volunteers an opportunity to expand their knowledge about volunteer experiences and gain greater satisfaction from volunteering through its placement services. In addition, RSVP provides volunteer insurance coverage and assistance with volunteer expenses, primarily, transportation and meal cost.

How Can You Become Involved With RSVP?
To become part of this dynamic organization designed especially for you, the senior volunteer, call or come in.

The Elementary School in Grayling is looking for a person to help in the Remedial Reading class. The school library in Frederic is in need of a volunteer to help there. Kirtland Day Care is in need of several volunteers to work a few hours in the morning. A Houghton Lake nursing home is looking for volunteers who would be interested in friendly visiting, and writing letters.

Scraps of materials are needed by our volunteers who are making lap robes. They can be dropped off at either office. If you are interested in any of the above assignments, please call the RSVP offices for more information.

Mrs. Peg Milnes has returned to Grayling after attending the wedding of April Patchak in Savannah, Georgia, on January 18, 1986. April is the daughter of former Grayling resident, Mrs. Jane Ann Patchak of Savannah, and the granddaughter of Mrs. H.E. Hubel of Clare. April was united in marriage to Tony Godfrey of Nottingham, England. Five members of his family from England came for the wedding including his mother, aunt and cousin and his brother who served as his best man. Also attending the wedding were Roy and Marge Milnes of Roscommon, Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Hubel of Clare, Dr. and Mrs. William Rosin of Portales, New Mexico, Dr. and Mrs. B.E. Henig and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piper of Hilton Head, South Carolina. On Monday following the wedding the Milnes, Rosins, Hubels and Jane Ann were guests of the Henigs for lunch and the Pipers for dessert and then were taken on a tour by the Henigs.

Sheryl Wieland of Grayling is working during the winter semester at General Motors Technical Center Community Health Program as part of her clinical placement study in the School of Nursing at Oakland University. The clinical setting provides real life situations where there are opportunities to apply nursing theory to practice in working with individuals, families or groups.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

by Wendell L. Hoover, Park Interpreter

Here in the park I have an opportunity to meet and view the attitudes of a lot of people. Simply stated a lot of things go on where a number of people are gathered. One of the things I see which bothers me is the attitude small children have toward the out-of-doors. Very frankly some are more kind to nature than the adults, but it is an unwarranted fear of the natural world some youngsters have that bothers me.

While you may not agree I believe youngsters should be schooled in how to handle themselves if they should become lost in the out-of-doors. We teach them about what to do if lost in a store so why not elsewhere. Survival is an attitude and at the top of the list is a realistic understanding concerning wild animals. Wild creatures, whether they have fur or feathers or crawl on their bellies are not out there to exterminate the human race. In fact kids have much less to fear from the four legged beast of the forest than the two legged beast on the street in front of the house.

Teach those youngsters to stop where they are and to stay there. Travel may take them away from the area being searched. Along with this equip them with some basic equipment and instruct them in its proper use. Even very young children should have a police type whistle. They must blow the whistle only if lost and they must keep blowing it. Searches in the park would become easier if such a practice were followed. Older children should have a whistle, a pocket knife and a few matches, along with instructions in their proper use.

Last of all teach those youngsters to dress properly and how to make or take advantage of simple shelters. Leaves raked into a pile make a blanket of sorts, a hollow tree, stump, blown down tree or a simple lean-to help minimize exposure to rain. There are more ideas which a survival book can provide, and learning basic survival techniques can be a good family project as well as providing some peace-of-mind if a youngster does misplace home.

Arts Council Continues Support

ARTS COUNCIL DONATES — Nancy Lemmen, secretary for the Crawford County Arts Council, presents a check to Chuck Kolb, Grayling High School librarian. The donation will buy dance-related books for the GHS library.

The Crawford County Arts Council tries to actively serve the needs of the Grayling community in a variety of ways. For example, in the past few months, the Council made several donations to area organizations:

Both the Crawford County Library and the Grayling High School Instructional Materials Center received contributions to buy dance-related volumes for their shelves; the Council joined several other community groups in donating to the Band Boosters; and the CCAC funded the Grayling Middle School Language Arts Department's visit by poet/storyteller Terry Wooten in December.

The Arts Council is willing to consider any request for support to a local visual and/or performing arts project. Proposals can be presented at a monthly meeting (meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m., in the Chemical Bank North Community Room). If you are unable to attend, call CCAC President George H. Morse at 348-7037.

People interested in dance should mark their calendars for April 19, when the CCAC joins with Kirtland Community College and the Roscommon Arts Council in sponsoring a performance by the well-known Harbinger Dance Company of Detroit.

THE MICHIGAN LOTTERY
RECEIVES MANY QUESTIONS
ON PRIZE PAYMENTS.
THE FOLLOWING SUMMARY
PROVIDES MANY OF THE ANSWERS:

- Q. What percent of Lottery revenues are returned to players as prizes?
A. State law requires that as near as possible to 45 percent of gross Lottery sales be returned to players as prizes. For example, in Lotto, this means 25 percent for the Jackpot, nine percent for the Second Prize pool and 11 percent for the Third Prize pool.
- Q. Why are Michigan Lottery prizes paid in 20-year installments?
A. This method of payment for large prizes benefits all players by increasing the total prize money that can be awarded.
- Q. Can you explain this benefit?
A. The Lottery invests approximately $550,000 of revenues for each $1 million to be awarded in a program similar to an annuity purchase. The combined principal and interest from this investment give the winner the entire $1 million in 20 years. The other $450,000 not needed for immediate full payment of a $1 million award then is used in the game as other prizes.
- Q. Must winners pay taxes on prize amounts?
A. Michigan Lottery prizes are exempt from state and local taxes, but not from federal income tax. The Internal Revenue Service requires a 20 percent deduction from payment of all awards over $5,000. Total tax paid by any prize winner may be higher or lower depending on other income.
- Q. Does this benefit winners of large prizes who receive annual payments instead of a lump sum?
A. Using a $1 million award as an example, present tax laws might cut this amount in half if it was all paid at one time, giving the winner only $500,000. Under the 20-year payment plan, a $1 million winner is paid $800,000 by the Lottery, $300,000 more.
- Q. Do all Lottery states use this method of payment?
A. All lottery states do, for the same reasons.
- Q. What if a winner dies before the 20-year payout period passes?
A. The Lottery ALWAYS pays out the full prize amount. The remainder of a prize is paid to the estate of a deceased winner. Payments also go to the estate of deceased winners of $1,000 a week for life prizes until the $1 million minimum has been collected.
- Send your Lottery question to:
Winner's Circle, Michigan Lottery,
P.O. Box 30077,
Lansing, MI 48909.
- If your question is used, you will receive 50 free instant game tickets. This month's winner circle question comes from Lucky Fulton of Brohman.

Everyone played and contributed for Grayling in the Charlevoix win. Beth Bedard, Stacey Hinds, and Jamie Kaiser led the setting. Shelly Denton and Piper Ostrowski combined for 23 spikes. Denton had 14 of Grayling's 17 blocks, and she led with 7 tips. Kathy Partin had 6 tips and Hinds 4. Partin led the serving with 19/20, Sue Casler was perfect with 12/12, and Ostrowski had 9/10. Julie Brooks and Wendy Pittman came off the bench and added key spikes for points.

The J.V. team also beat

Charlevoix, 15-1, 15-7, 15-8. Jenny Money led the serving with 15 and Patti Tremblay had 8 good serves. Jill Brackebury and Linda Goodale led the setting. Carrie Trudgeon, Money, Tremblay, and Brackebury led the court play and defense.

The J.V. team went 3-3 in a Kalkaska tournament Saturday. They just missed qualifying for the semi-finals.

They tied Petoskey in wins but Petoskey scored more points than Grayling in their head-to-head match-up to advance.

Carrie Trudgeon with 30/31 and Cindy Sabin with 21/22 led Grayling in serving Saturday. Defensively, Sabin, A.J. Pratt, and Sheryl Klinger led the team. Trudgeon, Money, Brackebury, Tremblay, and Goodale combined on offense to score a lot of points.

The following appeared before the Honorable William A. Porter on January 6, 1986:

Gerald Anson Cichy, of Grayling, was arraigned on a charge of Delivery of Marijuana, Count II of Possession of Marijuana was added and a guilty plea was entered on Count II. Cichy was arrested October 1984 on several charges of Delivery of Marijuana, Delivery of LSD, and Selling Drugs Without a License.

Roy J. Elliott, of Frederic, was sentenced on a charge of Criminal Sexual Conduct 4th Degree. He received 12 months in the County Jail with credit for 4 days served. He was originally charged with Criminal Sexual Conduct 2nd Degree involving a 7 year old boy.

Michael Joseph Summers was sentenced on a charge of Discharging a Firearm Without Injury or Malice. He received 8 months in the County Jail with credit for 4 days served. He must pay restitution of $957.43 plus $412.14. Court costs, repay court appointed attorney fees, and also received 24 months probation. Summers was originally charged with Malicious Destruction of Property Over $100 and Felony Firearm.

Robert Lee Welch, Jr., of Grayling, was sentenced on a charge of Larceny in a Building. He received 2 to 4 years in the Dept. of Corrections in Jackson, Mich., with credit given for 92 days served. He was arrested in October 1985 on a charge of Breaking & Entering.

The following appeared before the Honorable Alton T. Davis on January 21, 1986: Lyle Nelson Armstrong, of Frederic, was sentenced on a charge of Criminal Sexual Conduct 4th Degree. He received 36 months probation and 1 year in the County Jail with credit given for 50 days served. He must also pay $400.00 court costs and repay court appointed attorney fees. Armstrong was arrested on three charges of Criminal Sexual Conduct 2nd Degree in March, 1985 involving 2 girls ages 10 years and 11 years. A plea of CSC 4th Degree was entered in October, 1985.

Vikings Lose to Champs

First place Cheboygan showed their stuff Friday against Grayling in an 84-49 win there.

"They played like champions," said Viking coach Butch Hayes. "They ran well, dominated the boards, and did pretty much what they wanted to on offense. We played without any intensity."

Cheboygan built leads of 23-0 and 50-21 after two quarters. It was 68-32 after three quarters. Grayling outscored them 17-16 in the final eight minutes.

Klinger led Grayling with 14 and Jeff Palmer had 12. Tom Bacon scored 6, Kevin Hudson 5, Jason McEvers 4, Todd Hull 4, Gary Beckwith 2, and David Somerville 2.

Hudson led with 7 rebounds. Grayling dropped a 56-49 decision to Roscommon there Saturday night. Ice on roads postponed the game on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Grayling trailed at the end of each quarter. The Vikings were behind 14-12, 27-19, and 46-29. At the end of the third quarter and in the fourth quarter, Grayling made 15 steals to cut Roscommon's lead.

"We didn't wake up until the game was three-quarters over," Hayes said. "And then we ran out of time."

Hayes said Grayling had cut the lead to 7 points and had a breakaway lay-up when a funny call halted their momentum. As the Grayling player shot the lay-up, a Roscommon player grabbed the rim and slapped the backboard. The referee called a technical foul but did not call goal-tending because he said the ball was on the way out of the basket. Grayling coaches argued the ball was on the way out because the backboard was sking. With a goal-tend call, a free-throw on the technical and possession after the technical, Grayling could have cut the lead to two points.

Klinger again led Grayling with 14 and McEvers had 12. Somerville had 8, Hull 6, Bacon 4, Hudson 3, and Casler 2. McEvers had 9 rebounds.

In a typical Grayling-Roscommon game, 44 fouls were called. Grayling had 27 fouls and Roscommon was called for 17.

If Only I Were In Charge...

It's MY life.
Yet my parents are making all the decisions.
Sure, I realize that's the way it has to be. Children my age aren't yet ready to take responsibility for their future.
But think of the risks! Suppose they make some wrong decisions? What if they neglect important choices that have much to do with the kind of person I'll grow up to be? That would be awful, wouldn't it?
Well, there's a brighter side to my dilemma: My parents really love me! And so does God!
With His help they're on the way to doing a magnificent job. Meantime, I hope I'll be playing with your kids in the Church nursery next Sunday.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

A "Temporary" Solution

Maybe you didn't realize playing golf, bridge, or going fishing couldn't last all day, everyday. Maybe you didn't realize you couldn't spend 24 hours a day with your spouse, following each other around like two lost puppy dogs. Or maybe your worst fear has come true: your retirement income isn't supporting you the way it was meant to. But there may be a "temporary" solution to any of these problems.

Registering with a temporary worker's service may not be a bad idea. Many employers specifically request older people because of their reliability, discipline and experience. Since there is such a demand, services are constantly searching for people that possess these qualities.

Koernke Helping Bill Lucas Campaign

Thomas Koernke, the son of Mrs. Hazel Koernke and the late Fred Koernke, of Lovells, has been named the co-chairman for the William Lucas for governor campaign.

Koernke, 37, is a partner in the law firm Tolley, Fisher, and Verwys, of Grand Rapids. Lucas' press secretary William Johnson has called Koernke one of the most influential politicians in the west part of the state.

His interest in politics started young. At age 15 he served as a state House page. In 1968, he supported George Romney's try for the GOP presidential nomination. In 1970, Koernke worked for Gov. Milliken's successful campaign. He went on to help with governor campaigns by James Brickley & Richard Headlee. In 1984 he managed the successful Supreme Court campaign for Dorothy Comstock Riley.

Koernke, a specialist in corporate law, is a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School. He is also a graduate of the last class of Frederic High School. In 1966 he was one of five seniors at Frederic.

Mercy Hospital Seeks New Staff Obstetrician

Mercy Hospital Grayling announces the resignation of Dr. Brian W. Fox, M.D., Chief of the Obstetrics Dept., who recently accepted an offer to practice medicine in Wisconsin, said Sister Mary Ellen Howard, RSM, President and Chief Executive Officer.

Staff physicians at Mercy Grayling, Drs. Donald Burkley, M.D., and Charles Gosling, M.D., are accepting new patients, including women who are expecting babies in the future, at their Family Practice Clinic at 1020 County Road, Grayling. In addition, Dr. Jin Moon, M.D., Obstetrician/Gynecologist from Gaylord, will continue to provide consultation services at Mercy Hospital along with performing cesarean sections, Sister Mary Ellen Howard said.

"We are not happy to lose a fine physician such as Dr. Fox," said Sister Mary Ellen Howard. "However, we are grateful that the vital service of quality obstetrical care is still available to the community through our staff physicians Drs. Burkley and Gosling."

Recruitment efforts have been underway to replace Dr. Fox. Several residents have been contacted recently and a professional recruitment firm has been retained to assist Mercy in the search for a new staff obstetrician.

"We are making every possible effort at recruiting a new obstetrician to the Grayling area," said Jim Packard, Vice President of Planning/Marketing. "Many physicians completing their residency training programs in Michigan this year are leaving the state. Recruitment firms tell us that it's very difficult to attract physicians to Michigan, especially obstetricians."

Chrysler Main Speaker at Rep. Lincoln Day Dinner

Dick Chrysler, the first formally announced candidate for the Republican nomination for governor will be the main speaker at the Crawford County Republican Lincoln Day Dinner at the American Legion Hall on March 1st. He replaces L. Brooks Patterson who had to cancel due to a serious illness of his father.

Chrysler started his business career as a sweeper in the factory 20 years ago and is now the owner of Cars and Concepts. This firm employing 1200 people has contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler (no relation) to customize their cars for all orders for convertibles or sun roofs and is located in Brighton.

He has been active for many years in the Republican party but has not held political office. He feels that the state is in need of a business person at the head instead of a professional politician. The last business-man-governor Michigan had was George Romney, who had rescued American Motors Corporation from near bankruptcy as its president.

Other people on the program will be Cong. Bill Schuette, State Senator Connie Binsfeld and State Rep. Ralph Ostling. Tickets are available from any member of the County Republican Committee or by phoning 348-7253.

Among the reasons cited by Dr. Fox for leaving the state is the current malpractice crisis in Michigan which has made it difficult for obstetricians to practice here. Since Dr. Fox's partner, Dr. David Rivera, departed the joint practice last summer, efforts at attracting a new partner for the practice proved unsuccessful. Many physicians in the state have chosen to discontinue their obstetrical practices due to the high cost of malpractice insurance, or have moved to other states where malpractice insurance rates are more reasonable.

"Currently the malpractice reforms before the State Legislature have been stalled," said Packard, "although reform is needed now."

Women with questions or concerns about Dr. Fox's departure are urged to contact Mercy Hospital at 348-5461, ext. 368, for more information about Mercy's obstetrical program.
